This year the Westport Historical Commission recognizes and commends the exemplary work done by the Westport Point United Methodist Church and its contractor William Gesner to restore the steeple on the Church at 1912 Main Road, Westport Point. The expert corner weaving of the new red cedar shingles is an art rarely seen today. This work was an excellent demonstration of the beauty and utility of natural materials and the skills of local craftsmen. The new weathervane replicates the design of one formerly on the building, and is a fitting flourish on this handsome historic building.
